

CHN FOUNDERS & DIRECTORS: Scott & DiAnna Brannan

Scott and DiAnna Brannan of Kent, WA have been married twenty-two years and have two teenage children who have been homeschooled from infancy. Over the years the Brannans have served in several capacities within the homeschool community. They are founders of the Christian Homeschool Network of Washington (www.chnow.org). The CHN mission is to communicate legislative and local issues that effect homeschooling in the state of Washington. Scott works as an IT specialist for SAFECO Insurance.

CHRISTIAN HERITAGE BOARD MEMBERS:

Michael Bradrick - President

Michael & Susan Bradrick are blessed to be parents of nine children, ages 18-38, and the grandparents of (presently) twenty-one—all of whom are being home educated. The Bradrick family has homeschooled since 1981 and over the years have spoken together at many churches, homeschool groups, and conferences nationwide. They are founders and directors of Family Discipleship Ministries and co-founders of Christian Heritage Home Educators of Washington. The family lives on a small farm near Montesano, WA, where they delight in sharing ministry & hospitality with the many who come their way. Michael is a woodworker by trade.

Bryan Pollock - Vice President

Bryan & Susan Pollock of Tacoma have been married for 20 years and are parents of nine children, ranging from 18 to ten months. They have homeschooled for 17 years and have served together in the Christian and homeschooling community in many capacities. When not involved in the daily demands and delights of ministry, both at home and at church, the Pollocks find time to enjoy music (piano, bagpipe, and violin) and participate in historic reenacting at Fort Nisqually near Tacoma. Bryan is pastor of Pilgrim Bible Church in Steilacoom, WA.

Tim Roth - Secretary

Tim & Ruth Roth began their homeschooling journey twenty years ago and are the proud parents of seven sons and two daughters, ages 7-28. Their two oldest son is in full time ministry and their oldest daughter was married last February. Tim has served as a pastor for 33 years and currently pastors South Kitsap Alliance Church in Port Orchard, WA. He enjoys filling the roles of father, teacher, pastor, and chaplain for the local Fire Department. The Roth family actively ministers together to people in their church, in their community, and in the homeschooling community across the state.

Neil Craig - Treasurer

In 1982, Neil and Mary Craig began homeschooling their five children who now range in age from 19-32. Neil and Mary are reaping the benefits of homeschooling as each of their children loves the Lord and is serving Him. Their oldest son is married and gave them a grandson last March. Neil served for ten years at Back to the Bible Broadcast as their arranger/accompanist and Director of Music, after which the Craig family worked with Russian orphans for seven years, living in Moscow, Russia and Indianapolis, Indiana. The Craigs currently reside in Spokane, Washington where Neil works for Fed Ex. Music continues to be an important part of their lives and ministry – they love to sing and play their musical instruments together!

Featured Speakers:

Senator Val Stevens: Senator Stevens is a faithful friend and supporter of homeschooling in Washington State. She and her husband, Keith, have two adult sons and five grandchildren and are lifetime Washington residents. She has served in the legislature since 1992. She is a member of Calvary Baptist Church, was elected in 1991 to National Board of Directors for Concerned Women for America, is a Better Government Bureau charter member, and is a Christian Armed Services Association (CASA), ad hoc board member.

Representative Jim McCune: Representative McCune, homeschooling father of three teenage sons, is another ardent proponent of home education and is committed to protecting the values that honor families. He currently lives in Graham. He was first elected to the House in 1998. A small business owner, Jim has been a provider of Copper River Salmon products for over 36 years. He is an adoptive parent, active church member, basketball coach, and past Awana leader who has won many awards for his political and civic achievements.

Dick Karman: Dick and Dorothy Karman of Portland, OR began homeschooling in 1983. In 1984 they became leaders of a Portland-based support group, and in 1985 they founded the Oregon Christian Home Education Association Network. They've served in the OCEANetwork ever since. In addition, they have served for years on the board of The ALLIANCE (The National Alliance of Christian Home Education Leadership). Dick retired after 28 years as a Portland police officer and now works as an administrative analyst for the Clackamas County Sheriff's office. Dorothy teaches biology and chemistry to homeschool students. The Karman's praise the Lord that their now-adult children are walking with the Lord and they have two young grandsons.

A 3-ring binder containing helpful leadership information from CHN, HSLDA, & CHRISTIAN HERITAGE will be provided to attendees at no charge. If you are not able to attend, these binders along with CD's of the speaking sessions will be available to support group leaders at the April 17-19th, 2008 Christian Heritage Homeschool Conference or by contacting Christian Heritage through the website below. A shipping & handling fee will be charged to ship binder & CD's after the January 19 Leaders' Conference.

* The Town Hall Meeting is an open forum for conference attendees to share their experiences & insight on a select list of questions submitted in advance by attendees and deemed to be significant & of common interest to all. The discussions will be moderated and comments will be limited to two minutes per individual per topic.
